General information

This document applies to all accounts when your business:

- transfers funds within Poland
- transfers funds abroad
- receives funds from abroad
- transfers and receives funds in foreign currency

Major currencies

Major currencies are currencies for which rates.

Exchange rates

Danske Bank's quoted exchange rates are available at www.danskeci.com/pl (available in Polish only).

Rates are subject to change without notice. Conversion of amounts will take place at the relevant rate obtained from the Bank's applicable table of foreign exchange rates unless otherwise separately agreed.

EU/EEA countries

The EU countries and Norway, Iceland and Liechtenstein.

IBAN

International Bank Account Number (IBAN) is an international code set for each account. The IBAN standard allows banks to speed up transfers via the banking systems. IBAN contains information about the payee's account number and the bank providing the account. The combination of account number and bank is unique.

We recommend using IBAN for transfers to countries using the IBAN standard. The IBAN must be used for transfers in EUR, sent within EU or EEA countries (Norway, Iceland and Liechtenstein).

SWIFT/BIC

SWIFT is short for Society for Worldwide Interbank Financial Telecommunication. SWIFT is a network for exchanging transfer data between more than 10,000 financial institutions.

BIC is short for Bank Identifier Code and is an international standard for bank identification. The BIC of Danske Bank Poland is: DABAPLPW.

Requirements of US authorities

When you transfer funds abroad, you should know that payment details may be passed on to US authorities and restrictions may apply. It is your responsibility to comply with such restrictions. Compliance may result in additional costs. SWIFT is obliged to disclose information if US authorities suspect funding of criminal activities or acts of terrorism as defined in US legislation.

Payee's bank

You should always state the receiving bank by using a SWIFT address/BIC. You may also state an IBAN.

If you provide an IBAN, we reserve the right to identify the receiving bank directly from this number. We cannot be held liable if the IBAN specified by you is not the payee's IBAN.

If you state both an IBAN and the SWIFT/BIC information, and if these two pieces of information do not match, then the IBAN prevails and we will use that, when we decide to which bank we transfer the funds.

Correspondent bank

For standard and express transfers, the correspondent bank is not necessarily the payee's bank. In some cases, we use selected correspondent banks and international clearing systems for executing transfers.

Whenever we choose to transfer amounts through a correspondent bank, the correspondent bank may in some cases deduct a fee before sending the transfer to the payee's bank. If you want to ensure that a specific amount reaches the payee, the best way is to choose the "Payer pays all costs [OUR]" allocation method. However, even though a transfer is sent with charge code "OUR", it cannot be guaranteed in all markets that a specific amount reaches the payee.

We send express transfers and group transfers directly to the payee's bank, if possible.

We are not liable for any errors made by the correspondent bank or for its solvency, regardless of whether the correspondent bank was chosen by you or by us.

Allocation of costs

The costs of transferring funds can be divided between the payer and the payee in three ways:

- Payer and payee share costs (Share/SHA)
This option can be used for all types of transfer. According to the Payment Services Act, this method must be used for transfers in any currency sent within EU/EEA. When the payer and the payee share the costs for transfers in EUR within the EU/EEA, the transfers are governed by EU regulations. These regulations state that transfer charges must not exceed those of a similar domestic transfer. The payee's IBAN and SWIFT address/BIC must be stated correctly.

- Payer pays all costs (OUR)

If your transfer is sent to a country outside the EU/EEA, you can choose to pay all cost. This option is subject to our standard fees plus an additional fee in accordance with the currently binding Fees and Charges Table. If the fees charged by the payee's bank exceed the additional fee, we charge the extra costs to your account.

This option cannot be used for transfers (in any currency) within the EU/EEA area according to the Payment Services Act.

- Payee pays all costs (BEN)

If you use the cost code BEN, we will subtract our fee from the transferred amount. This option cannot be used for transfers (in any currency) within the EU/EEA according to the Payment Services Act.

Specific information about transfers to abroad and outgoing transfers in foreign currencies

Transfer types

We offer several types of transfer to abroad.

Standard transfer

This is the most simple and common type of transfer.

Intra-Danske Bank standard transfer

This transfer type is used if the payee holds an account with the Danske Bank Group.

Transfer under EU regulations

This is a transfer in EUR. Currency conversion can be made before the actual transfer or on receipt if the payee's account is denominated in a currency other than EUR.

- The transfer must be within the EU/EEA countries (Norway, Iceland and Liechtenstein).
- The payer's and the payee's banks must be able to process the transfer without manual handling. This is ensured by the use of correct SWIFT/BIC and IBAN information.
- The payer and the payee share the costs.

Express transfer

This is a type of transfer, which allows your business to transfer funds faster than by using a standard transfer. An express transfer is subject to a higher fee.

Internal transfer – own accounts

This is a transfer used to move funds between your own accounts within Danske Bank Poland.

Group transfer

Intra-Danske Bank transfers or to another bank. This is a transfer between a parent company and a subsidiary or between two subsidiaries. The parent company must own at least 51% of the subsidiary.

You cannot choose all transfer types directly, but we will always make the best possible transfer for you.

A standard transfer meeting the requirements for a transfer under EU regulations will consequently be executed as such a transfer. A standard transfer to another Danske Bank customer will automatically be executed as an Intra-Danske Bank transfer.

Execution time

This is the time, in business days, from when we receive an order until the funds are available to the payee's bank.

If your transfer requires the assistance of a correspondent bank, or if you choose to use a correspondent bank, the execution time will be the time from when we receive your order until the funds are available to the correspondent bank.

If you send your order on paper, we may use an additional day to process the transfer.

Cut-off time for submission of orders

We consider an order as received if you submit it before the stated cut-off time on business days.

If you submit an order after the cut-off time, we will consider the order as received on the following business day.

If a payment is not ordered electronically, the cut-off time is 1.30pm for domestic payments and 12.00pm for payments to abroad or outgoing payments in foreign currency. Different fees may apply (specified in the Fees and Charges Table).

In case of a bulk debit containing foreign payments with different cut-off times, the earliest cut-off time will apply to the entire bulk debit. This means that if a bulk debit contains a payment for which the cut-off time has passed when we receive the file, the execution of all payments in the bulk debit will be postponed to the following business day.

Value day(s) for payer

The number of business days passing before a transfer is value-dated in the payer's account.

Transfer with currency conversion

A transfer involves currency conversion, if funds are transferred in a currency other than that of the payer's account.

Transfer with no currency conversion

A transfer involves no currency conversion, if funds are transferred in the same currency as that of the payer's account.

Payer and payee share costs (Share/SHA) According to the Payment Services Act; this method must be used for transfers in any currency sent within EU/EEA. For payments created via Danske Bank electronic banking system and in case OUR/BEN is used within EU/EEA, Danske Bank will not accept the payment.

For payments sent via file and in the case OUR/BEN is used within EU/EEA, Danske Bank will, instead of stopping the payment, automatically convert the fee code to SHA.

Specific information about transfers from abroad and incoming transfers in foreign currencies.

Cut-off time for receipt of transfers

We settle transfers on the same business day if we receive them before the cut-off time.

Value day(s) for payee

The number of business days before a transfer is value-dated in the payee's account.

Currency conversion

Currency conversion is automatically made for funds received in a currency other than that of the payee's account.

Fees

Unless otherwise agreed, we will deduct fees payable from the funds received from abroad.

Changes to cut-off times and value dates

If your business makes transfers through payment accounts held with Danske Bank, we may change this document without any notice if they are to the advantage of your business. Otherwise, changes are subject to 14-day notice. We will inform you of changes electronically.

When we change this document, you must inform us - before the changes take effect - if you do not want to be bound by the new document. If we do not hear from you, you will be bound by the new document.

If you inform us that your business does not want to be bound by the new document, the agreement will terminate, and you will no longer be able to send/receive any domestic or foreign transfers.

Transfers via accounts other than payment accounts are also governed by "Cut-off times and value dates".

In addition, "Terms and Conditions for Opening and Maintaining Bank Accounts for Entrepreneurs" apply. You can download a copy of these conditions from our website at www.danskeci.com/pl (available in Polish and English) or ask for a copy.
